Wilton's vote caps duplex denial

by GLORIA DAVIS

The old and new factions on the Antioch Village Board, tagged by some as the Toft-Wilton factions, butted heads again on Monday when in front of a packed house, the board voted to deny Trustee Ron Cunningham's request for the rezoning of approximately 17 of 34 lots on Anita St., from B3 and R1 to R4

Cunningham intended to build 68 duplex units on these lots. Almost half of the area already had R4 zoning.

Atty. Ken Clark told Cunningham that his abstention vote(because of conflict of interest) would go with the majority vote, so Cunningham left the room entirely without voting.

Trustee Marilyn Shineflug said that she voted against the request for the additional R-4 zoning of Cunningham's acres on Anita St. because, " He can build 21 duplexes on the property already zoned R-4 --- that is an adequate number of duplexes in town."

Trustee Ed Koziorowski made a motion to deny the rezoning request. Trustees Larry Hanson and Marilyn Shineflug went along with Koziorowski's motion, but Trustees Don Amundsen and Mabel Lou Weber voted against the denial.

With the board vote at 3-2, Clark instructed Mayor Bob Wilton that his vote on the matter was necessary. Wilton voted for the denial, making it a 4-2 vote.

Shineflug, in an interview after the meeting, said that under the present zoning, "Ron can build 21 duplexes on the property, which would leave a buffer zone between the multiple housing and the private homes on Garys Dr. Those 21 will make an adequate number of duplexes in town."

The board, all except for Cunningham, also voted to deny another rezoning request. By a vote of 5-1, the board denied Robert Horton's request to rezone property on North Ave. to B-3.

The dissenting board members and the mayor were of the opinion that B-3 zoning is too intense for that area. Shineflug added that she wouldn't mind a B-1 zoning which would limit it to retail businesses.

After a pre-annexation approval of the Little-Dean 65 acres, east of the township office, the board voted for B-3 PUD zoning on the front 11 acres and M-1 PUD zoning on the other 54 acres. Almost 25 of those remaining acres are considered wetlands and unbuildable.

In other business, the board authorized the advertisements for a full-time public safety inspector at a salary of $20-24,000

According to Antioch Police Chief Charles Miller, the report made by a 28year-old female employee of the all-night convenience store on North Ave, that she had been attacked and raped two weeks ago proved to be a phony.

After we spent a lot of time on the investigation, she admitted that it was a just a viscous argument between herself and someone she knew. There was no assault or rape," said Miller.

This, added to the other assault report turning from the Fourth of July colebration at Williams Park, which also turned out to be a false alarm, might cause the female population to let out a sigh of relief "because there are no rapists in Antioch.

"Not true," says Miller. There are perverts everywhere. No, this is not the city or the ghetto, but women everywhere have to take proper precautions."

Principal's Pow Wow ACHS parent must

All parents of Antioch Community High School students are urged to set aside at least one Friday during the school year to attend the Principal's Pow Wow.

Parents of new students should be espe-cially interested in the program, now in its 12th year, instituted by Principal Art Blecke in 1978 which has already been attended by 2,000 interested people

Parents attend a luncheon in the school cafeteria, cating the same food as their kids are eating, followed by a tour of the building.

It might be surprising to know how many ACHS parents have never been through the high school.

During the tour, parents sit in on some classes and are also are given the opportunity to ask the administration any questions that they have concerning the operation of the school, most importantly in relationship to their children.

Freshman parents will receive special invitations, sent out in alphabetical order. Approximately 12 parents are invited ev-

· Dinner and auction at the Deerfield Hyatt, starting at 7:30 p.m.

· Sunday brunch, hosted by Walter and Connie Payton, at Ditka's Trackside, Arlington Park Racetrack, complete with piped-in live mces.

The auction at Saturday night's dinner will include such spectacular items as Gulf Stream, Cessna and Lear Jet planes, luxury automobiles, including two Rolls Royces and a Bentley, an Arabian horse,

A fuel tank from a modified race car careening around the track at Wilmot Speedway flew over a 14-foot fence into the stands, injuring four spectators Satur-

Village sells land strip to adjoining companies

The Antioch Village Board unanimously approved selling a 40-foot by 232-foot strip of land, owned by the village, in the industrial park, between Scafolding Shoring Systems and Hercules Tool, to the two neighboring companies.

This approval came at the last regular meeting of the board on Monday.

"No one cise would be able to use the land because of its size. Only the neigh-boring land owners will be able to use it," said Mayor Robert Wilton.

The neighboring factories will split the land for their own uses. The bid accepted by the village board was $5,000.

Although the Fair Assn. would sorely miss the $52,000 per year revenue it receives from the rental of the track, Kenosha County Fair Board Chairman Don Weinke said, " We are worried that the track can't handle the cars going this fast."

Emily Sezonov, the boy's mother said that she is sure "Mathew would have been crushed" if the tank hadn't been deflected.

The tank hit the elder Sezonov's leg. A 44-year-old man and his sons sitting nearby were struck by flying debris after the tank crashed into the stands, splashing gasoline on the boys.

Although the track has had a good safety record under Toft, members of the fair board are becoming concerned that the speed the race cars are attaining may be too fast for the track.

The fence between the track and the grandstand was 11 feet at the beginning of the racing season. After a stock car careened off of the track, landing on top of a van that was parked in the pit, three feet was added. No one was hurt in that incident.

Chris Groh has anglers eating their hearts out by LIZ SCHMEHL (312)395-5380 Big Catch

Chain O'Lakes anglers eat your hearts out. Do I have a fish tale to tell you. Eleven year old, Chris Groh, of Antioch caught a 17 lb., 38 inch muskie out of Lake Catherine on Monday, July 31. He was out for a normal day of fishing with his grandfather, Ed Manacek, Before leaving the house that day, Chris gave his grandfather his old, almost worn out line, "Grandpa, today is going to be the day I get a big one!" It came true at last. Chris caught the muskie on a beetle spinner and when the gigantic fish surfaced, after an extremely long and hard fight, both grandpa and Chris had a dilemma on their hands. Seems they weren't prepared for Shamu

Student registration dates the whale as they only had a small net aboard. However, Chris was determined to land that fish and land it he did. At one point grandpa, Ed, thought Chris was going to jump in after it. I am sure if Chris lives to be one hundred, he will never forget this fishing event at age 11. Now the next step is to have Mr. muskie mounted to adorn his bedroom wall and capture the admiration of all his friends. Congratulations, Chris. I happen to know two fishermen who are green with envy - your good friend,

That will happen if Lake County's nineyear state's attorney is successful in a bid for lieutenant governor of Illinois in

The boyish-looking Republican prosecutor, who is the immediate past president of a national district attorney's organization, is one of five GOP prospects prominently mentioned for the state's second highest ranking elective

Foreman is eager to make a state-wide race. Since May, he has been making exploratory junkets up and down the state, talking to GOP leaders and county chairman. Last weekend he and his wife, Stephanie, made every possible public event in Lake County "to get input on how the home folks feel about me running."

The graduate of Warren High School said he was proud and gratified to receive words of support and encouragement to look beyond Lake County for his next public service position.

"My main interest is representing Lake County. I can do that as licutenant governor. I like the flexibility of the office and the fact that I wouldn't have to move to Springfield, if elected.

I'd stay right at home, a mile from where I grew up."

In confident, matter-of-fact tones, Foreman talked about a future in which he'd be No. 2 and his desire to bring a Republican state office to Lake County for the first time in 30 years.

"The Lake County State's Attorney manages an office with three times the personnel of the Illinois Lieutenant Governor. Besides, I've got the experience of overseeing an office in Washington with 30 people," Foreman noted.

The rangy ex-football player said his interest and background in crime and the battle against drugs would complement the stress on fiscal matters and stabilize Illinois economy, major concerns of Sec. of State Jim Edgar, the likely GOP nominee for governor.

As a law enforcement officer, Foreman said he has had an up-front opportunity to observe the record of Illinois Atty. Gen. Neil Hartigan, who has an inside track for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Another plus for Illinois: "I've got a unique relationship with Rich Daley," Foreman exclaimed with a grin. "You know what the saying is, about how a Democratic Chicago mayor works well with a Republican governor." Mayor Daley succeeded Foreman as head of the U.S. prosecutor's organization. They've been close friends for years, besides being state's attorney of neighboring counties.

Foreman spoke easily about his desire to advance in public office.

"I've always been interested in public service and doing the best that you can. That's what attracted me to a career in the military. (Foreman had a scholarship to the Air Force Academy, dropping out due "In the military, you're always interested in advancing, I guess I've always been intrigued with taking on the bad guys," Foreman added with a touch of humor.

Foreman's home ties are important in his life. He describes with candor the fondness for his roots and his desire to bring recognition to the area where he grew up and is raising his family.

A fund-raising event Sept. 13 will prove how far he can go on the state-wide trek, Foreman observed forthrightly.

The likeable legal chief said he also will be looking at both elective and appointive opportunities in the public area.

'Above all, I want to represent Lake County. That's important to me."

Although it met some opposition, a plan to sell the Nike Site won approval from the Lake County Board Tucsday.

Board member John Balen hit the $430,000 minimum selling price.

"We ought to get the maximum dollar for the land," Balen said.

"It's like money in the bank. It is economically unsound to sell it now," board member Elanor Rostron said.

Grayslake Park, village huddle on donation laws

Grayslake Community Park Dist. officials will be meeting with other governing bodies on several issues of common concern this week.

Park and village officials are expected to meet Aug. 14 to discuss the water quality report on Gray's Lake prepared by the Lakes Management Unit of the Lake County Dept. of Health.

Grayslake Village Manager Mike Ellis said village staff members are reviewing

The park-village meeting is expected to be a prelude to public hearings about the report, issued earlier this summer.

The report, which is available at Grayslake Community Park Dist. offices, 43 Harvey Ave. gave pluses and negatives of the lake. The study, commissioned by both the village and the park district, said the lake is generally in good shape.

One recommendation the study urged concerned the lake's bottom.

"Every administrative and legal measure must be considered to acquire the lake bottom," the report states.

Other recommendations include: a fisheries assessment every three to five

-improving the flow of public information regarding the lake;

-aquatic plants in the lake need to be

-deny any building in wetlands near the managed more efficiently.

Grayslake Park Board President Jill Koch has described the report as something the park district can use for future decision making.

In another area, the Grayslake Park officials and plan commission members are expected to discuss possible changes in the village's park donations ordinance

"Basically the board feels it would be advantageous to have a uscable park with six trees to an acre, grading and suitable buildable land," Grayslake Park Dir. John Wilson said.

Grayslake Mayor Marv Smith explained the village is working on impact fees through its Impact Fee Task Force. Committees of the task force are studying various aspects concerning the parks, schools, fire districts and library concerns.

"We're trying to tie them all together," Smith said.

On a third front, who will be a party to a purchase of a weed harvester is expected to be considered Aug. 17. The 7:30 p.m. meeting at Third Lake Village Hall will be among Highland Lake Homeowners Assn., Grayslake Park Dist., Third Lake and possibly more agencies looking into the joint purchase. If purchased, the weed harvester would be rotated among the

No raises allowed

LAKE VILLA-Lake Villa Twp Supv. Sue Hanson told the township's board of trustees Tuesday that, although it was not budgeted due to a deficit situation, Tax Assessor Mike Karazinski is giving his employees raises. Hanson said she is very upset because it had been agreed upon carlier this summer that no raises would be given, except to one, extremely underpaid office worker. "When we approved the budget, it was an understanding between Michael and myself that twp, employees would not get a wage increase. I think it would cause a lot of employee apathy," Hanson said. Karazinski's announcement came just three weeks after the board decided to withhold his salary because he was allegedly neglecting his job.

Critics ignoring facts

Critics of how Lake County Public Works Dept. officials manage finances of the Northwest Lake County Regional Sewage system ought to get facts straight once and for all and quit carping about excess revenues by taken by the department which has responsibility for operation of $55 million in water and sewage treatment assets county-wide.

The Northwest Regional network providing waste water treatment for the Fox Lake-Ingleside area, Lake Villa and the greater Round Lake area is the only system where doubt has been cast about financial mismanagement.

Mayor Carl Schrimpf of Round Lake Beach is the latest critical voice to be heard about the county's financial husbandry. In a letter to the editor, Schrimpf raised the spector of "excess revenues" being generated by Northwest operations. Schrimpf was sounding a familiar complaint aired by detractors in the Round Lake area. So far there has been no proof of irregularities, yet the charge of "excess revenues" surfaces from time to time.

Public Works Dir. Martin Galantha explained that the Northwest system should produce $75,000 annually over and above operating and maintenance costs plus debt service of bonds to provide for reserves required by the bond ordinance. For FY 1988, the system only produced approximately $15,000 for the reserve. Maintenance of reserves is an integral part of financing utilities expansion throughout the county and a guarantee for bond holders that the system will continue to function properly - and pay off its debts.

Galantha stated flatly that there are no "excess revenues." As a practical matter, as the system gets older and operating and maintenance costs increase, county reserves now totalling some $11 million will be drawn for payment of needs over and above fees paid by users.

Public Works operations are monitored by the Lake County Board and state agencies. Regular financial reports are submitted to oversight agencies. Regular financial reports are submitted to oversight agencies and municipalities employing water and sewage services. Throughout the county, except in the Round Lake area, the Public Works Dept. earns praise and admiration of officialdom and customers alike.

The Northwest critics ought to put up or shut up.

Doing the right thing

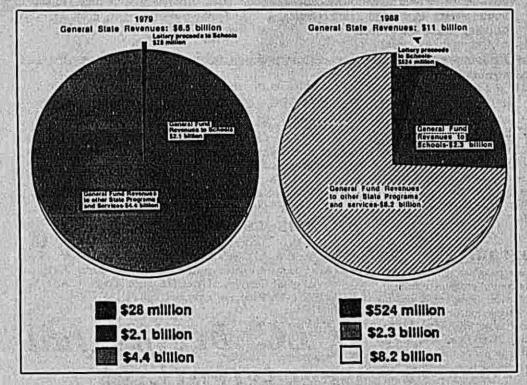

Considering that the state weighs the school aid formula in favor of unit districts, voters of the financially beleaguered North Chicago elementary and high school districts did the right thing by voting for unification.

If ever there was an opportunity to demonstrate one of the classic arguments in favor of unification — elimination of duplication of services — it is in North Chicago's case where High School Dist. 123 and Elementary Dist. 64 frequently have been at odds over the years. The new unit will have the benefit of an increased tax rate to provide public education in North Chicago the brightest outlook in years.

Because of a shrinking tax base and declining state aid, North Chicago had its back to the wall. Voters came out fighting with a three to one majority to testify to their desire to maintain their own school system. Score a big point for local determination.

In our opinion, the newly organized unit board of education also made a wise choice for a superintendent. Dr. Charles Thomas, head of the old elementary district, is qualified, articulate and caring. He knows the turf, besides knowing the school business.

Lottery smokescreen

Illinois lottery players who feel good about gambling in the belief that they are helping the schools should take a second look. While the dollar amount of lottery proceeds going to education has grown significantly in the last 10 years—from $28 million to $524 million—lottery income for the schools on a percentage basis is insignificant.

The Illinois Assn. of School Boards (IASB) calls lottery income a "smokescreen." The IASB states flatly that lottery profits do not provide additional funds for the schools. In reality, most of the money plunked down by chance takers goes for prizes. The state keeps about 42 cents out of each dollar.

Despite "aid" from the lottery and all the other posturing in Springfield over education, the schools' share of every dollar in general state revenue dropped from 33 cents in 1979 to 26 cents in 1988. Gaps in state funding of education have been made up by local taxpayers. According to IASB, local school income grew by 70 percent between 1979 and 1988—mostly from property taxes—which was roughly equal to the rate of inflation those nine years.

As we approach the final decade of the century, the truth is that there doesn't appear to be any deviation in this pattern due in the 1990s.

Double celling would solve jail space crisis

by BILL SCHROEDER Lakeland Newspapers

County Board members have a ready answer for an ugly bugaboo---jail overcrowding. Spend $4.6 million as soon as possible to finish off the fifth and sixth floors of the county's new $32.1 million jail-courts complex in Waukegan that opened in February and was bulging at the seams in two months.

"We're out of room. We need the space," declares Sheriff Clinton Grinnell.

Finishing the top two stories of the state-of-the-art facility will provide room for an additional 240 prisoners, providing a total capacity of 590 beds. Current capacity is 350 inmates, including 240 in cells, 70 in work release and 40 in a modular unit.

Sheriff Grinnell also has sounded need for remodeling the old jail for use as a work release housing center so new work release quarters, considered to be a model by penal standards, can be transformed to provide space for prisoners facing more serious charges.

What in the world is happening? Authorities point to rising violent crime rate and stiffer judicial sentencing why the jail filled up so fast.

Lake County officials also are faced with the reality that the new jail was under-built. For whatever reasons, the accepted guideline of one jail bed per 1,000 population was ignored. With Lake County's population currently at around a half million, the new facility probably should have been constructed with a 500 bed capacity.

Another thing that county authorities are going to have to face up to is the acceptance of "double celling," the dread system of two persons in a cell. What else can be done? The taxpayers simply can't build jails big enough and fast enough to house all the people that should be behind bars. Jail personnel hate the thought of doubling up, but there doesn't seem to be much choice considering the economics.

Double celling and turning the old jail over to work release just might provide a much needed breathing spell. Overflowing a new jail in less than six months is ridiculous!

STEAL—Story making the rounds of the Antioch area of the widow who sold a classic Corvette worth approximately $50,000 for $500. The valuable vehicle was purchased by her husband shortly before he died, covered and garage kept since. She advertised the car as a '53 Chevy. Imagine the astonishment of the car buff who came upon the automotive gem. Whether true or not, it's still a good story.

BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY—What does a sports editor do on his vacation? He takes in a sports event, of course. Steve Petersen, Lakeland Newspapers sports editor, took some time off and couldn't resist the lure of Chicago Bear drills at the Platteville, Wis., summer camp, so he took camera and pencil along and filed a report that appears elsewhere in this edition.

IN TROUBLE—A politician who can't shake hands is in trouble, That's exactly the predicament of County Board Dist. 6 Rep. John Reindl of Fremont Township.

Reindle operates a dog kennel and a nervous canine chewed on both of his hands during a fit of frenzy, "First time that ever happened in 30 years in the business," chuckled Reindl, who expects the lacerations will be healed by the time he starts running for reelection this fall,

Politically Speaking

Neal Hartigan, the Democrat's apparent choice for governor, has his admirers and detractors.

One of his critics is state Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) of the 60th Dist. "Hartigan is a nice person, but he has run unsuccessfully so often for governor of Illinois he has become the Harold Stassen of the Democratic Party," Churchill said. "Hartigan has been trying so hard for at least eight years to please everybody he has, unfortunately, become like a jelly fish."

Betty Ann Moore, county Democratic Party chairman, doesn't think that picture is accurate. Although Hartigan run for the state's No. 1 office in 1982, she notes he demonstrated his loyalty to the party by stepping aside in 1986 in favor of Adali Stevenson Jr. In exchange for that gesture Hartigan will have the support of Stevenson this time around, Moore said.

Hartigan is well known to Lake County Democrats. He has been their golf day speaker in past years. He also was a big backer of Democratic Lake County Clerk Linda Hess in her upset win two years ago.

Making a pitch for Lake County Republican votes in recent weeks was Greg Baise, secretary of the Illinois Dept. of Transportation. He wants to move up to Jim Edgar's job as secretary of state.

He was at the July monthly meeting of the Lake County Republican Central Committee executive board.

Baise has the credentials and backers. He ran two of Jim Thompson's re-election campaigns, one for Ronald Reagan and another for George Bush. He's never lost an election.

"You sure know how to smoke candidates out," said County Board members Bruce Hansen (Lake Zurich) and John Reindl (Mundelein) of Dist. 6.

If Grever is serious about making Hansen a has been, voters will get a second chance to make a choice.

One election issue is certain to be the old NIKE site at Quentin and Long Grove Rds. Last month it got new furniture for the office at 900 N. Shore Dr., Lake Bluff, $17,309 worth to be exact.

Now, the body that will bring Lake Michigan water to Libertyville, Grayslake and, possibly, Lake Zurich, among other communities, concentrate on doing exactly that.

If you own a car with a radar detector, leave it unlocked, says Mundelein Police Chief Wallace Frasier. Why would he advise something like that?

"Because whenever it is stolen there is a minimum of $100 damage to one of the car windows," the chief said. "And if it is fastened to the dash there could be more damage."

Growth may trigger commuter extension

Growth and development of north Libertyville could trigger extension of commuter service on Wisconsin Central tracks north of the Mundelein terminus, as presently envisioned by NORTRAN trustees.

"It's definitely a possibility," remarked Glenn Ahrenholz, NORTRAN trustee from Buffalo Grove and chairman of NORTRAN's rail committee, Trustees personally viewed a site at the Peterson Rd. crossing near Rtc. 45 during an inspection trip in June. The Casey Rd. crossing also was mentioned as an alternative.

Ahrenholz called the inspection trip made by bus "a symbolic journey. Wehope it will not be too many years before rail commuters will actually be riding the route we traced along the Wisconsin Central line."

Wisconsin Central purchased tracks and right-of-way formerly utilized by the Soo Ahrenholz was referring to sites identified as future rail stations or parking sites in communities along the proposed commuter rail line. The service would be operated on track currently owned by Wisconsin Central, Ltd.

The physical inspection was made by village, planning and public transportation officials and by several NORTRAN trustees. Included were representatives of Metra, the suburban rail board, and Pace, the suburban bus board, as well as news reporters. Wisconsin Central president Edward A. Burkhardt also took part.

Under a proposal made by Metra, commuter service on the all-freight singletrack line would run would Mundelein with stops at Vernon Hills, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling and Prospect Heights to a DesPlaines link with the tracks of the Chicago & NorthWestern for the trip downtown to NorthWestern for the trip downtown to NorthWestern Station. The proposal is based on a study done for Metra by R.L. Banks & Associates, independent transportation consultants.

Sixteen officials boarded a bus at NORTRAN headquarters in DesPlaines to begin their working session at the Deval junction near downtown DesPlaines where a rail connection would be made with the Chicago & NorthWestern tracks. The group also visited proposed station sites at Prospect Heights, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Vernon Hills, Mundelein and Libertyville. In Mundelein, officials also looked at a site identified in the Banks study for possible overnight storage of rolling stock.

"In general, I think those who participated were pleased with the amount of work and planning many of the communities have done to help bring service on the line closer to reality," Ahrenholz said.

"The turnout was a measure of the continued high interest in commuter rail service and the real forward movement which has been made," he added.

He said meetings will be scheduled shortly with officials of Metra and Commonwealth Edison, which will be asked to consider sites on its right-of-way along the Wisconsin Central track for commuter parking.

"We also plan special meetings for officials of Vernon Hills, Mundelein and Libertyville to update them on the project and to assist them with their plans for station sites and parking.

"Under an informal working arrangement with Metra, NORTRAN and a task force composed of representatives of interested communities work with developers to identify and acquire needed sites for stations and parking. Metra, in turn, is studying the required capital funding. And all of us are building grassroots support for measures like the proposed increase in the state gasoline tax to finance needed transit improvements like the Wisconsin Central."

The district has been a proponent of commuter service on the line and made several of its own feasibility studies before the Banks study. The Metra plan calls for five peak-period trains each weekday in each direction. Projected daily boardings of 2,787 and total annual one-way trips of 1,421,000 would make the service one of the most cost-efficient of all Metra commuter rail lines. The line could be self-supporting after only four years of operation according to Metra projections.

The $49.3 million capital investment includes four locomotives, 20 doubledecked commuter cars and construction of the rail connection at DesPlaines. Firstyear operating expenses, not including fees or lease payments to the Wisconsin Central, are estimated at $2,386,300. First-year revenues of $2,125,200 are projected.

"Other communities like Deerfield and Northbrook which are not on the line would benefit indirectly because fewer people from other communities would use their rail commuter parking facilities," Ahrenholz added.

works for Rigby clients

by KIM BOLTON

Roger Rigby, owner of Rigby and Associates in Gurnee, is a self-described problem solver who works for his clients.

Rigby is a general insurance agent whose brokerage firm deals with several insurance companies and is able to offer its clients the specialties of each firm in the areas of life, health, disability, medicare supplements, group insurance and life insurance annuities.

"Insurance agents out on their own are limited to what they can do. "The main thing we do is specialize in products that another insurance agent, with another company, requests when his client has been turned down. The agent will come and ask for a company that will be better than his company," Rigby said.

Rigby and Assoc. also offers financial planning and handles problem cases for insurance agents.

After working in the business 10 years, and having a father who worked in insurance his whole life, Rigby was able to see the changes occurring in the rapidly growing insurance market. He said the one company approach was no longer valid for the insurance consumer because the field became so specialized.

At that time (10 years ago), Rigby decided it was time to get on the ground floor and take advantage of those changes by becoming a general agent. Five years later, trends in insurance, like expansion into financial markets, caused him to want to bring other brokers into his firm.

Now, three brokers work in Rigby's Gurnee office, but he is the general agent for approximately 15 brokers and earns commissions on the policies and annuities they sell. He says the general agent is a go between for the company and the broker. For example, if an agent is having difficulty settling a death claim, Rigby will handle the case. He said death claims should be settled quickly, but some companies will drag them out over a period of months.

"The check should be in your hand in 10 days max.," Rigby said.

Rigby also offers training and advanced sales knowledge to his brokers. According to him, the insurance industry is one in which information and ideas are readily shared.

Rigby and Associates is "somewhere between good-sized and large," Rigby says. A large firm would be a downtown general agent with $3 to $4 million dollars in new premiums. A good-sized agency has about $250,000 in new premiums, according to Rigby.

Philosophy: "The client is always number one. The agent's commission is number two. The agency (Rigby and Associates) is number three, and last, but not least the company is number four."

Within the next 12 months, Rigby plans to clock in at $500,000 in new premiums and $2 million in annuity premiums, which, he explained, are similiar to a bank CD earning 13.6 percent interest and are

"Life insurance used to be considered a very poor investment, and in many circles, still is," Rigby said. He added that with today's current tax laws and the higher interest rates companies will pay investors, it's becoming increasingly more

"You don't have the risk involved as you do with the stock market," he said.

Life insurance retirement policies today can be tax free until the holder reaches age 100, according to Rigby. If they die before then, the money is never taxed.

It is somewhat difficult to become a general agent, Rigby says. He explained that a general agent must have a specified amount of time and production in the industry and those requirements are getting stricter. Also, the quality of business he writes must be adequate for the company.

Although Rigby's father has been an insurance man since 1938 and still writes policies for some of his clients in his retirement home in Florida, Rigby says he didn't follow his dad into the business:

"As a young boy, people knowing my personality said, "There's the insurance man," I said, 'No way,' "Rigby said adding he wanted to be an airline pilot or a

It took him until his sophomore year at Southern Illinois Univ. before he decided to go into insurance and he tells the story with teary eyes.

The idea of going into the insurance business hit him late one Thursday night. He drove home to W. Highland Park, arriving at about 3 a.m. Upon opening the front door, he saw his mother coming to see what was wrong and why her son came home in the middle of the night, in the middle of the week.

Not wanting her to wake his dad-an absolute bear without sleep-he said nothing and to go back to bed. Her persistence got the truth out of Rigby and she immediately woke his father with the "Go put on a pot of coffee," Charles Rigby said.

"If you knew my dad, you'd never wake him in the middle of the night," Rigby

The father and son spent the rest of the night mapping out Rigby's future.

Rigby began his career at Metropolitan Life and after a year, moved to the same company as his dad, New York Life. It was there he found his philosophy:

"The client is always number one. The agent's commission is number two," and since then he's added, "The agency (Rigby Associates) is number three, and last, but not least, the company is number four."

A resident of Gurnee where he lives with his wife, Norma, and last child at home, Nichole, Rigby says honesty is the most important thing in his life.

"If you can't be yourself at all times, than whatever you're trying to do isn't worth it," Rigby said.

tax omeowners revolt

by SHERI T. PRASSO Associated Press Writer

Borrowing a phrase from Benjamin Franklin, a political activist is urging residents to petition for a reduction in taxes to counter a new round of reassessments that shocked many Chicago homeowners.

"Benjamin Franklin said death and taxes are inevitable, but he didn't say it's inevitable to be taxed to death," Patrick Quinn, a former member of the county Board of Tax Appeals, said Wednesday.

Quinn, jumping on an angry bandwagon of taxpayer revolt, urged residents to take up their pens and sign petitions. His group, the Coalition for Political Honesty, launched the petition drive to reduce property taxes and a limit on the amount taxes can be increased.

After numerous town meetings, and an angry protest at a city alderman's office, the taxed were more than happy to give their John Hancock's.

"If they raise it anymore, I don't know what I'm gonna do," said Michael Galgano, a 74-year-old for ... construction worker who owns has Northwest Side home. "I don't have much left in my savings."

Galgano, one of the first to sign the petition in front of the State of Illinois Building on Wednesday, said he now pays double the $1,000 he paid in property taxes three years ago.

Residents in areas that had been reassessed reported their property-tax bills increased between 50 and 200 percent over last year. The issue heated up when the bills arrived in the mail earlier this month. On Monday, 350 angry protesters stormed one alderman's office demanding

"We're the ones who are most in danger of losing our homes," said one of them, Frank Greco, 72, who lives on a fixed income in a reassessed ward. "We want to send the message that unless they roll back taxes, people are going to fight

The petition calls for a reduction of at least 5 percent in the 1990 property-tax levy, a $1,000 homestead exemption and a ceiling on taxes of no more than 2 percent of the home's market value. If the group collects 155,000 signatures, a nonbinding referendum will be placed on Chicago's March 20 primary election ballot. An additional 130,000 signatures would place it on the Cook County ballot.

The plan is based on measures approved by voters in California, Massachusetts, Missouri and Michigan, Quinn said.

"I think people have had it up to here with a system that needs reform," said Quinn. "It's a soak-the-average-person system and it's not fair."

The county demanded a 23.5 percent increase in its property tax rate last year, and the county board president, George Dunne, has said he needs another increase this year to expand crowded jails and hospitals.

Quinn contends county tax-collecting is based on a 19th century system that is unfair, confusing and not based on ability to pay. He blamed Dunne, saying the county government is inefficient and padded with patronage jobs.

But Dunne said Wednesday his hands are tied by an antiquated system he would like to see reformed. He said he spends 76 cents of every tax dollar for a criminaljustice system that demands more money every year.

"We are the victims" of the costly efforts to curb crime, Dunne said in a telephone interview.

In 1988, Illinoisans paid $7.4 billion in property taxes, equal to the amounts generated by state income and sales taxes, said Douglas Whitley, president of the Taxpayers Federation of Illinois. (AP)

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: Would you please explain to me what a cataract actually is?

ANSWER: A cataract is a clouding of the normally clear lens of the eye. This clouding, a natural aging of the lens in most cases, prevents light from passing through the lens to the back of the eye, or retina. Much like the lens of your camera focuses light on the film, the lens of your eye focuses light on the retina. If the front of your camera's lens becomes dirty or fogged, then the picture taken will be hazy or blurred.

Saving money on your European vacation

Part I—currency exchange by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

No, I can't tell you how to see "Europe on $25 a Day." Mr. Frommer has a good book for you student-types. But, I can offer some first-hand advice for the budget-conscious traveler.

Trading those U.S. greenbacks for pounds, guilder, marks, etc., can get costly if you're not careful.

Depending upon which airport you arrive at, you may find several exchange services willing to change your money. Don't just look at the posted exchange rate. Most also charge a commission which may not be posted. Shop and compare.

Quite often, you will get a better exchange rate for travelers' checks than for U.S. currency. Also, if you change American Express travelers' checks at one of their overseas offices, you will not be charged any commission.

Never, never change your money at your hotel. On the average, they offer the worst exchange rates. Your best exchange rates will be at banks, but they are open even fewer hours than their U.S. counterparts. Some do have 24-hour branches located at train stations.

The dollar is gaining against most European currency, but don't expect to make money when changing back to greenbacks on your return home. Exchange only what you think you are going to need.

With the dollar on the rise, though, it may be wise to use credit cards. You will pay the rate of exchange at the time you are billed, not at the time of purchase.

Next week, we will talk about phoning the folks back home using something called a "phonecard."

Film Review

Although many adults have been rushing to the rash of summer adventure movies, its quite obvious that most of the season's reel epics are geared toward drawing kids to the movies two or three times a week during vacation.

Walt Disney Studios' entry in the bid for the child dollar is "Honey I Shrunk the Kids."

It's a typical Disney product showing kids having an adventure, bumbling parents, a few frightening villainous scenes, all with an underlying moral message.

The kids are members of two families that accidently get shrunk to microscopic size by their scientist father's invention.

All the adventures take place when the kids struggle to get across their own backyard with good special effects showing blades of grass the size of trees, drops of water like a tidal wave and a pet ant that looks like a prehistoric -monster in comparison to the teeny tiny adventurers.

The child-actors are all good, each having a distinct personality. Rick Moranis as the shrink-happy father is as inane as most of Disney's adults.

The majority of adults will find this one boring, while children that are getting spoiled by the "Ghostbusters," and "Batman," might find it a little too sugary and tame for their liking. It is the kind of nonviolent, good clean movie most parents would like their kids to like. We rate it a 2.5 out of 5 stars.

Wrigley Field, the John Hancock Building, Field Museum, Art Institute, Sears Tower and Lincoln Park Zoo are among the area's often taken-for-granted attractions.

Chicago offers a picture postcard perfect skyline-one as impressive as any major. city here or abroad.

That's a partisan view from a native observer of the every-changing scene, and from one who is still amazed to find many long-time suburbanites who for one reason or another have never sampled firsthand the intoxicating array of treats served up by the Windy City.

Travelers come from the far corners of our world to attend a Grant Park concert to dine at Berghoff's or The Italian Village, to shop at Bloomingdale's and Bonwit's, to watch

If you've not sampled these cultural, culinary, commercial and entertainment opportunities, you don't know what you have been missing.

A unique way to take it all in from a distance is aboard a Star of Chicago cruise on Lake Michigan. Combining fine food, dance music and a panoramic view, the three-hour dinner cruise has romance built Departing promptly at 7 p.m. on a recent Monday night from the North Pier, our Star of Chicago cruise was clear sailing all the way. A table for two at the bow facing a widow provided the perfect setting for a shipboard meal.

The cabin was pleasantly air conditioned. Choices from the buffet tables ranged from a variety of salads and fresh fruit. Hot entrees included seafood, poultry, pork and beef. Dessert options were both chocolate, so deciding was

Exploring the upper deck afterward was fun. And it was nice that our waiter's attentiveness did not end when the meal was finished. The only complaint was about the band: it didn't play more than one or two selections of check-to-check music, although many other guests did not seem to mind.

The tariff seemed moderately high but appropriate for the outing: $42.45 a head, excluding drinks. At lunch, it drops to $22.45 but on Friday and Saturday nights, the rate is $46.45. Monday nights there is a special half-price tariff for women. The line runs excursions through mid-October. Considering the priceless view, an outing like this is worth the splurge.

Salvador' full Swimmers of gritty realism

by TOM WITOM Lakeland Newspapers

To fantasize about life as a foreign correspondent for a television network is to conjure up images of power and

Thoughts of chasing down heads of state and disseminating hot news to the world come to mind. There's also a romanticized vision of beautiful scenery, gourmet food and, of course, deluxe accommodations,-

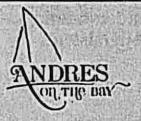

In "El Salvador," now being staged at Chicago's Steppenwolf Theater, a more gritty reality comes to light. Written by Rafael Lima, who actually covered the war in El Salvador as a freelance reporter during the early 1980s, this dynamic play presents a day in the life of a television bureau holed up in a ratty Central American hotel, stuck with equipment and power that works only sporadically and threatened by bomb blasts within a stone's throw of their headquarters, Separated by the miles from family and friends, various members of the bureau find their personal relations falling apart. And faced with a steady diet of killings, many of which they must photograph in the course of their assignments, it's no wonder emotions are rubbed raw and motives behind their career choice are questioned.

Mike Nussbaum, as Fletcher, head of the news bureau, finds solace in the bottle. Others turn to drugs, sex. Tim Hooper, as the green and overly zealous star reporter McCutcheon, wants to rock the world with his exposesonly he faints at the sight of blood.

"El Salvador," which plays through Aug. 13, offers a provocative and thoroughly absorbing look at what it's really like in the trenches as a newsman. It's not for the faint-hearted.

Calling for Bog volunteers

Volo Bog State Natural Area is now accepting applications for volunteers interested in leading a varicty of youth programs during the fall and spring of the school year.

Energetic, responsible adults with a love of both nature and children are a great asset to the youth interpretive programs conducted at this Illinois Dept. of Conservation site.

Approximately 4 to 8 hours per week, plus training time, are required from September through mid-November and April through May.

This area of volunteer involvement is often the most rewarding. On a typical day, a volunteer naturalist may lead tours of Volo Bog, introduce children to pond inhabitants or the fascinating world of insects, or guide a class through environmental games designed to increase their awareness and understanding of the natural world. There are 17 different programs in all. A volunteer may choose to specialize in only one or two or may become involved in several. Program preparation and clean-up afterwards is also part of the job.

Anyone who is interested in becoming a Volo Bog volunteer, can contact park interpreter Stacy Miller at (815)344-1294 or drop by the visitor center located at 28478 W. Brandenburg Rd. in Ingleside.

Volo Bog State Natural Area's summer hours are 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily. September - May hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The visitor center is open 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Thursday through Sunday during the summer and Saturday and Sunday, September through May.

High energy rock group Sawyer Brown will perform at Six Flags Great America in Gurnee, at 7 p.m., on Sunday, Aug. 20. Five-member band features lead singer Mark Miller, lead guitarist Bobby Randall, key board artist Gregg Hubbard, bassist Jim Scholten and drummer, Joe Smyth.

CLC offers aerobics

This fall, the College of Lake County is offering an alternative for individuals with busy schedules and an interest in fitness. Individuals may attend an carly morning Low Impact Aerobic class (PED 121-012) at the College of Lake County.

The aerobics class meets Tuesdays and Thursdays; from 6 - 6:50 a.m., beginning Aug. 29 and ending Oct. 19, in the gym on the Grayslake campus.

It is the first time the college has offered a class this early in the morning. Experienced aerobic dance teacher Esther Damore is the instructor.

Students enrolled in the course may receive a half credit hour. The tuition and fee for individuals living in the CLC district is $16.05. Both men and women are encouraged to enroll.

More and more people are making a special effort to stay fit, but finding it difficult to work a regular exercise routine into their busy schedules," according to Dorothy Regan, CLC director of marketing and public relations.

"Just as private health clubs are now opening early, we hope that by offering this aerobic workout at six in the morning, two days a week, we've found a time that meets people's need for convenient scheduling and affordability."

FLOOR

209-17 CORTEZ By Landmark Designs 08-06-89

Long, low and spacious, there's nothing cramped about the Cortez. The living room, dining room and kitchen are huge, as is the master suite. Even the other two bedrooms are above average in size. In fact, due to its spread-out California ranch styling the home requires an extra-wide lot an odd-shaped cul-desac or acreage in the country.

COVERAGE: 2458 square feet

Unlike most homes, the dining room is separate from both the kitchen and the living room. A three-sided bay window adds dimension and creates a dramatic focal point immediately visible on entering the house. In a room like this even the simplest meal will seem elegant.

A vaulted ceiling with a halfround window at the peak of the gable make the living room appear even larger than it actually is.

The roomy kitchen includes a nook for informal family meals.

Counter space is everywhere, including on both sides of the range in the central work island - great for dishes that require stove top assemblage. Shelves could be built over the work island, or the area

Closets line one whole side of the master suite and the master bath has a double vanity. The guest bathroom also has two vanities, one separate from the bath area. Extra space in the utility room could accommodate a guest bed in a pinch, or be used as a sewing or hobby area.

For a study plan of the CORTEZ (209-17), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Bear hopefuls

Some 80 players hoping to impress the Chicago Bears coaching staff reported to summer training camp at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville. The signs are all over the previously sleepy college town.

Throughout the southwestern Wisconsin town, it was Bearmania last week as the Bears held training camp at the University of Wisconsin - Platteville.

At Berg Pharmacy, there's added staff to accommodate the NFL players and the fans making the trip.

"A player is always running out of toothpaste or shaving cream. One player came in today for contacts," Grace Jeffrey, a Platteville resident for 25 years said.

This is the fifth year since the Bears moved their training camp from Indiana to Wisconsin and businesses take it to heart. Almost every business "adopts" a Bear- Maurice Douglass is Berg Pharmacy's choice while Dennis Gentry is the adopted Bear at the Dodge Motor Inn.

Jeffrey explained the Chamber has a pretraining camp drawing each year to determine which Bears are adopted by which businesses.

"The first year we had the Fridge and we had a big referigator and had food coming out of it, Jeffrey recalled with a smile.

A Wednesday practice was cut short so players could attend a picnic sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. For $20, those interested could mingle with the Monsters of the Midway.

Meanwhile just outside the Bear practice facility, two youngsters hang "Parking $4" signs next to their home.

In the front of the house, Tracy Best is relaxing during a between practice session but "After practices is our busiest time," he said, with an assortment of souvenirs across a table. Bear t-shirts with a map of Wisconsin and a star next to Platteville's location is one hot item this year.

The Super 8 Motel is now in its second year and has seen a big increase in requests for rooms.

"People will try anything to get a room. They know we're here more because this is our second year," Lora Duggan said.

Some 90 members of the Grayslake Park Dist. and Lake Villa "After School Club" were among those who made a trip to Platteville Wednesday, Meanwhile back at the practice field, Meanwhile back at the practice field, John Shannon is continuing his bid to make the team. A second-year player, Shannon is aiming for a defensive end post, a position which includes Rickard Dent on the depth chart.

"I'm just trying to make a contribution," he said during a pre-training comp autograph session in Grandwood Park.
Shannon, a University of Kentuck, product, said the coaching staff goes full-till from the first whistle of the two-days and he expected competition to be keen for jobs.

Coach Mike Ditka poses for photos in his golf cart with some "guests" of the Bears minutes before another afternoon practice session is about to begin. The big news from the Bears, who spent this week in LaCrosse, Wis. training with the New Orleans Saints, this day was the return of lineman Steve McMichael, a Mundelein resident. The all-pro, who led the team in tackles last year, ended a walkout when the team granted a one-year contract extension.

"I had a feeling he'd be back. He's been a mainstay on this football team since I've been here. He is my kind of player," Ditka told a post-practice press conference.

"The defense is starting to come on," Ditka said two days before the annual scrimmage, which was a sellout.

Thousands watch favorite golf pros practice

By STEVE PETERSON Lakeland Newspapers

There he was, sitting in the bleachers at the 18th hole of Kemper Lakes Golf course in Hawthorn Woods.

Ray Floyd had just finished his practice round, and of course, his grandson, Mike Groos, ran to get another autograph. As quickly, the 11-year-old raced back to the stands, waiting for some more pros' to complete their rounds Monday at the Players Golf Assn. Championship. The major tournament, featuring some 150 pros, is making its Lake County debut this week.

Emil Norenberg was the spectator as all this was going on. Norenberg, 76, can remember back to the days some 70 years ago when his Dad, Gus, farmed the land near where the water hole on 17th and the 18th green call home.

"I've played golf for 63 years and I love it more today than ever before," Norenberg, who now resides in Tinley Park, said.

Norenberg's grandson, meanwhile, said the professionals were usually pleased to sign autographs. Monday was the first of three practice rounds for the tournament, which concludes Sunday.

Norenberg recalls with a smile the days when he would make a golf club using a broom. He would come to the course, aiming for the middle of the fairway and play 54 holes by lunchtime.

One trip north a misdirection steered him to Rtc. 12 instead of Rtc. 14 as he headed to Crystal Lake Country Club. At the time, the longest hole was a 550-yard fifth hole. On the hot and windy day, he hit a tee shot 500 yards.

"I played for the entertainment of the sport," Norenberg said.

While employed at Borg-Warner, his summer duties were to organize summer tournaments for 50 to 60 employees.

He can tell golf stories after golf stories. The legendary Bobby Jones was one of his favorites in the days before golf purses and corporate sponsorship and tournament cars.

One day when Sam Sneed was having trouble at the border in Mexico, Tony Lima went on to win a championship.

The veteran golf watcher said the senior tour innovation is a great asset for the game of golf. "It keeps them young," he said.

PGA notebook: Several Lake County golf coaches were invited to send high school golfers to watch the practice sessions. Antioch, Lake Zurich and Grayslake were among the schools.
Grayslake High counselor Scott Hannig was among those employed at the weeklong event. His is on the considerable security staff at Kemper Lakes...A

standouts set for new challenges High school

The summer jobs, baseball or softball mes are all coming to a close for those hictes who plan to continue their careers four-year colleges.

Several Lakeland athletes are getting ady to test their skills and see if a andout in the North, Northwest or East uburban Catholic Conference can make a accessful transfer to the Big 10, Pac 10, ollegiate Conference of Illinois and Visconsin or the Missouri Valley onference.

In Gurnee Sunday, Crystal Cobb was iven a send-off from fellow Blue Devil riends, parents, and well-wishers.

"I think I'll miss the fans and the parents vho came to the games," Cobb said.

Cobb will be one of two point guards on the Arizona State University women's asketball team.

The three-point line painted on the Cobb's driveway at their five-acre homesite is a bit faded now. The familiar basket attached to the garage was the site of many long hours of practice. Crystal's father, Jesse, can remember many a cold afternoon helping his daughter with a pointer or two.

Cobb, who played on the varsity basketball team all four years at Warren, finished her senior year by being named all-NSC in both softball and basketball.

"Going downstate," Cobb said when asked her greatest accomplishment as a Blue Devil. Cobb scored 20 points in the quarterfinal contest against Chicago Marshall in the 1988 Elite Eight game.

An all-state player her senior year, she broke the single-game scoring record at Cobb, who was a member of the North Shore region gold medalist scholastic women's basketball team, knows that the transition may not be easy.

"It will be challenging. I will get to play against a lot of good players," she said.

Cobb and the rest of the Class of 1989 will have to make adjustments to academic life, too. At Arizona State, two-hour study tables are mandatory and tutors offered in all subject areas.

While Cobb tries to make her presence felt in Arizona, Shawn Chambers will try and do the same in Macomb.

Chambers was a mainstay on the Carmel pitching staff this spring and the Libertyville American Legion team this summer. The Corsairs won 26 straight games en route to the East Suburban Catholic Conference championship. Libertyville finished second in the Dist 2 tournament.

Susan Musselwhite, who had many a battle with Cobb in basketball and softball, will be hoping to make her presence known on the basketball court at Southeast Missouri State.

Fellow MHS product John Sidari will be hoping to crack the depth chart at the University of Illinois. He was all NSC for the Mustangs last fall.

Meanwhile at Northeast Missouri State University, three Lake County residents will try and make an impact as freshmen. Mundelein's Jeff Fuller is a tight end, Grayslake resident and Mundelein grad Randy Rantz is a defensive lineman and Round Lake grad Larry West is a freshman linebacker. Libertyville grad Ashley Boeckholdt is a sophomore on the team.

At Illinois State University, Mike Freeking, who finished second in the state wrestling tournament at 152 pounds and won a gold medal at the Prairie State Games, will begin his collegiate wrestling career with the Redbirds. Scan Keagel and Mike Lewis, who dominated the NWSC meets for Johnsburg, will begin their careers at Northern Illinois University.

Grayslake High product Timm West, a football and basketball standout, will report to Knox College in Galesburg.

Antioch's Mike Golcbiowski, a threesport athlete, will hope to make an impact on the Augustana football team. Mundelein Coach Gary Heifner sounded a word of caution for the newcomers to collegiate athletics.

"Freshmen going into college are very naive. They think all they have to do is go out and they will play every down. There are players who have waited four years to have their chance. Some are 22 years old. Very rarely does a freshman make an impact unless he is a very flashy back," Heifner said.

Heifner said Fuller and Rentz have good growth potential to make future contributions.

While this is the time freshmen begin their collegiate careers, it is also the time when some change colleges. Matt Lingenfelser, who was a major force in Warren's 1987-88 Sweet Sixteen boys basketball team, has transferred to Wiona

State University in Minnesota. He started the second half of the season last year at Cathrage College in Kenosha. He must sit out a year before playing for Wiona.

Carmel's Mack looks forward to familiar trip east

For the first 10 years of Bill Mack's football coaching career at Crystal Lake High School, trips cast to Mundelein on Rtc. 176 were commonplace.

The Mustangs were a foc in the North Suburban Conference, which at that time stretched from Zion to Coach Mike Fitzgibbons. McHenry.

Now, a decade later, Mack, after a one-year stint as head coach at Beloit College, is once again making the trip to Mundclein. This time, he is an assistant to Carmel Head

"The only real reason why I left was the hourlong drive to and from Beloit and I was making those a lot late at night," Mack said.

Mack, a member of the Illinois Football Coaches Hall-of-Fame, resides in Crystal Lake, where his Tiger teams have never finished worse than third in the 10 Fox Valley Conference campaigns. In 1979, the Tigers advanced to the quarterfinals before being eliminated by Lake Forest.

"Offense is all blocking and execution," Mack, who will be guiding the Corsair attack at Carmel, said.

Mack's sons Andy and-Billy Jr. played football for the Tigers. Bill Jr. went on to Elmhurst College and works in Spring Grove. The Macks are proud grandparents for the first time.

"It's hard to pick out any one team because a lot of years we did not have the best records but they were fun because of the progress the team made," Mack said.

Mack said football has not changed all that much in his three decades of coaching, "Because of off-season weight training programs and that the passing skills have improved but the players are pretty much the same," Mack said.

Mack said the team will probably continue to use the I-formation as the Corsairs attempt for a second straight playoff performance.

He said he know several East Suburban Catholic Conference football coaches. "Obviously the ESCC is one of the better leagues in the state," Mack support bridge for Hemphill plan Commissioners

The future of a proposed bridge over the Avon-Fremont ditch appears the same as if the bridge were to be constructed.

That is, up in the air.

The Grayslake Community Park Dist. Board of Commissioners voted 6-1 to ecommend to the village that a 60 foot ocdestrian bridge be built. Commissioner /irginia Russell cast the negative vote.

The bridge would connect a proposed ark site in the Homes by Hemphill Homes by Hemphill is proposing 40cre, 95 lot single-family subdivision off tkinson Rd.

Grayslake Park Dist. Dir. John Wilson aid the bridge would "be a significant part f the greenway corridor system",

The park district would install and paintain the bridge.

A second reason for the bridge, cording to park officials, is the eveloper has indicated at previous meetings that he prefers that the money be used for park donations and improvements and the park build the bridge to avoid liability problems for the firm.

A third reason for the bridge, Wilson said, was to provide pedestrian access to various parts of town.

Wilson said the "final decision is up to Grayslake Mayor Marv Smith said, though, that the matter is a concern of the park district and the developer. He said he would tend to oppose the bridge because of opposition expressed by neighbors. A petition with 128 signatures of 150 Stratford -On-Avon subdivision residents was presented to the park board.

Safety concerns were expressed by parents at a meeting in the Quail Creek subdivision.

In other park board news, the park will hold a levy hearing on Aug. 17 at park district offices.

Fox Lake considers alternative

by BILL SCHROEDER Lakeland Newspapers

Fox Lake trustees are considering issuance of alternative bonds, a newly approved financing procedure, to reduce costs of the $25-million expansion of the village sewage treatment works.

Steve Amundsen, a representative of Northern Trust Co., a major purchaser of municipal bonds, said use of alternative bonds would save Fox Lake $1 million.

Edward Benjamin, Fox Lake's long-time bonding consultant, stopped short of putting a price tag on savings. He explained that alternative bonds, an alternative to conventional revenue bond financing, was approved Dec. 15,1988, by the Illinois General Assembly, to make municipal bond projects more attractive to investors and make bonds easier to sell.

Both Benjamin and Amundson, who until recently owned a private financial consulting business, explained that alternative bonding provides for an underpinning of general obligation bonds in the underwriting process that provides additional security to the bond holders.

Amundsen, who at one time consulted with the Round Lake Sanitary Dist., referred to alternative bonding as a "slight twist." He said the innovative method is common on the east and west coasts, but fairly new to the midwest.

Village Atty. John Soffictti asked for a "graphic example of the $1-million savings." Amundsen was asked to make a complete presentation at the council's work session meeting of Monday, Aug.

Trustee Richard Bayne, who obtained permission of the council to give Amundsen an opportunity to speak at the Aug. 7 village meeting, said he prefers alternative bonding due to its extra security and savings feature. "I think we should have Northern Trust handle the bonds," he stated.

Trustee Alberta Meyer criticized Bayne for what she called "spur of the moment" agenda scheduling. Bayne countered that short notice is necessary sometimes with the huge public works project.

Amundsen, who consulted with Round

Lake leaders on the proposed super sanitary district for the northwest region of Lake County, stressed that alternative bonding will lower monthly charges to individual users to about $22. Users in the northwest district now pay $11 per month, plus local sewer charges.

Benjamin outlined a $158,000 saving over the 17-year life of the bonds with alternative bonding. He also stressed that changing to alternative bonding would not jeopardize Fox Lake's plans for advance refunding of $2.5 million in outstanding bonds.

Trustees voted unanimously to authorize Benjamin to proceed with actuaries in drawing up advance refunding of outstanding water and sewer bonds.

Sprains, dislocations and fractures of the foot or ankle occur frequently. Too often people with these types of injuries make things worse because they fail to seek immediate treatment by the podiatrist.

One reason for this is the widespread misconception that if it can be moved, it can't be broken. A person may still be able to walk, albeit painfully, despite some types of bone fractures. on the matter because the subdivision is planned for an area less than a mile and a half from its border. The county board and various taxing bodies will also vote on the plans. But, if Lindenhurst turns the developer down, county board must have a twothirds majority in favor of the proposal in order for it to pass.

The Lindenhurst Board of Trustees' initial reaction to Gelden Woods was negative when the subject was first discussed three weeks ago. Since then, the developer and his architect presented their plans to the board, at its request. The architect assured the board that there would be no problems with runoff going into Crooked Lake from the development of eight luxury homes on 25 acres off Gelden Rd.

Drains Run Slow?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.

Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste sticks to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel through the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to rooter your pipes. But that's expensive, and often only a temporary help.

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep Plumb Clean today!

into the gook. That is what allows it to liquify even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!

Saves Money

A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, you would have to buy over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.

Safe Too

Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations, Some, may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course all plumbing.

So, if your drains are giving you a signal, act now. Start cleaning your drains the safe, effective, guaranteed way. Get after school starts

Once the school season begins, so does the cold and flu season. When kids return to school, they are once again exposed to all of the germs and illnesses that all of the other children bring along.

It is easy to confuse a common cold with influenza, An important difference is that flue causes fever, usually absent during a cold. Also, nasal congestion occurs more often with a cold than with the flue. Cold symptoms generally are milder and don't last as long as symptoms of the Flu is a viral infection of the nose, throat and lungs. It spreads quickly from one person to another, particularly in crowded places such as buses, theaters, hospitals and schools.

Because of its ability to spread rapidly, flu was once believed to be caused by the influence of the stars and planets. In the 1500s, the Italians gave the disease the name "influenza," their word for "influence."

Not until the 1930s and 40s did scientists discover that flu differs from person to person. Sometimes flu will cause no obvious symptoms. Often, however, the patient will feel weak and will develop a cough, a headache and a sudden rise in temperature. The fever can last anywhere from one to six days. Other symptoms include aching muscles, chills and red, watery

Flu is rarely a fatal illness. But while the immune system is busy fighting off the flu, a person is less able to resist a second infection. If this second infection is in the lungs, it could be lifethreatening.

Prevention Many doctors recommend that patients get a flu shot (or vaccination) in the early fall. Side effects will sometimes occur, such as a low fever or a redness at the infection site. But in some people the dangers from getting flu and, possibly, shots are effective for only one year.

Good eating habits have lifetime effect on kids

According to experts, a child's growth and development depend on certain nutrients for specific types of growth at specific times.

Adolescents, with their large appetites and high food requirements, are especially prone to weight and nutritional problems, During puberty, proper nutrition is essential to the successful completion of the body's many changes.

A problem may be that overweight adolescents are still growing and if too stringent a diet is enforced, it will interfere with growth. The diet should contain enough calories to maintain growth without causing any weight gain. High intake of vitamins, including vitamin D for skeletal growth and vitamin B12 for healthy new tissues, is important to

Kids have concerns

Adults may sometimes envy the seemingly carefree attitude of youngsters, but studies actually show that children do begin worrying at a younger and younger age these days.

Second-graders may wonder whether their bodies are healthy, while fourthgraders worry about how tall they will be or the various parts of the body.

Fifth- and sixth-graders are greatly interested in the subject of sex; they want to know about the reproductive system and the approaching effects of puberty. They begin to turn introspective at this time, seeking to under-employee, one can enjoy the ultimate in "flex-time" by creating one's own schedule, working only certain days of the week, or on only the kinds of jobs one enjoys most.

An assignment can be refused if it is too far from where you live or if working that day doesn't fit your daily schedule.

While one is carning, one can be learning, too. Temporary services offers a way to acquire needed business skills and the confidence they instill. It's also a word processing and comgood way to gain experi-ence, try out different types of work and make a lot of friends and acquaintances in the process. Some temporary services even provide puter training.

Taking on temporary assignments can help one regain one's "edge" before going full-time again.

Regardless of whether your last job was CEO or domestic engineer, the best news is that leading firms are actively recruiting employees this fall. The firms charge no fees, and offer benefits and good wages.

Never too early to start saving for college

Financial experts say it's never too early to start planning how to finance that college education. First of all, consider a scholarship. This is one of the most valuable sources of all, because it doesn't have to be repaid.

Most colleges offer financial aid in the form of grants (which also do not have to be repaid), waivers and deferments to qualifying students.

Education loans are available to students or to parents of students through private lenders such as banks, savings and loans and credit unions. In addition, low-interest loans can be obtained from the federal government. Such loans are repayable nine months after graduation or upon leaving college, and you are allowed up to 10 years to repay.

The federal government also offers various grants. Your state government can also provide grants or other financial aid.

There are many private groups that are also willing to offer assistance through scholarships, grants and loans. Investigate the various community organizations, such as the Chamber of Commerce or Rotary Club, to see if there in the future.

is a grant or other financial program available and what the qualifications are,

Of course, every student has the option of following that old American custom: working his or her way through college.

In addition, there are other sources to contact for information: the Federal Student Aid Information Center offers a toll-free number for those with questions-1-800-333-INFO.

However you decide to finance a college education, think of it as an investment

If school mornings mean mayhem at your home, it might be wise to do a little with such allergies.

Preventing flu is difficult because flu viruses change constantly and unpredictably. This year's virus usually is slightly different from last year's. The difference, generally, is just enough to get by the defenses produced by the last flu shot. Therefore, flu Treatment

Vaccination remains the most commonly used method of preventing influenza. In recent years, the use of an antiviral drug, amantadine, has also been recommended for the prevention and treatment of many types of influenza, planning. To prepare a schedule that will make things less frantic, try these tips:

 Prepare school lunches or set out lunch money the night before.

 If kids often misplace pencils, pens and scissors at home or school, gather these items into one container.

particularly in high-risk individuals, However, the usual recommended treatment for children is:

 give child aspirin-free medication for the aches and pains,

2) provide plenty of fluids, and

3) keep the child in bed until the fever has been gone for 1 or 2 days. It is especially important to stay rested, since the fever may return if the patient becomes too active too soon. If the fever persists, a doctor should be called, since this may mean that a more serious infection is present.

mornings

To keep lost items to a minimum, you may want to equip two containers for your child—one for at-home use, and the other for a locker or desk at school.

Make sure children lay out clothes and books or supplies they'll need before bedtime. Moms may select clothes without the child's participation, only to find (usually five minutes before it's time to go out the door) that Junior refuses to wear the pants so carefully.

Tips for taking hassle out of one's homework

With a mixture of anticipation and a longing for summer to go on forever, students everywhere are packing up their beach towels and suntan lotion and heading in the direction of a new school year,

September arrives with its promise of exciting new beginnings, and signals the perfect time to stand back and assess yourself as a student. Before plunging into a new academic year, think back on specific areas of schoolwork and homework that could stand some improvement.

Were term papers and projects constantly being completed as the last minute? Was it impossible to study for final exams because notes were a mess?

cause notes were a mess?

Did you frequently feel tired and listless during class, making it impossible to concentrate on lessons? If any of these scenarios sound familiar, now is the time to take steps to ensure that last year's mistakes won't be re-

peate

Here are some tips from experts that will help start the new school year on a positive note;

 Procrastination is the undoing of most students.
 In addition, studying under pressure is incredibly stressful and a real barrier to retaining information.

Buy a datebook, record study and homework assignments, and stick faithfully to deadlines. Be a tough boss—don't make excuses for not completing the day's homework assignment.

 Organization is the key to a great report card. But if notes are scattered around the bedroom, it's nearly impossible to get a handle on the material. Arrange a quite space for homework assignments.

 Studying notes is easier when you use brightly colored highlighters to organize important facts. Use different colors to keep notes from various subjects separated.

• Flex more than your brain muscles if you want to do well in school! Exercise is a real energy booster, so if you're feeling lethargic there's nothing like a brisk walk in the fresh air on your lunch period to wake up those sleepy eyes.

And, speaking of lunch, steer clear of those sugary donuts and pastries if you want to feel good after eating. Choose natural snacks like fresh fruit and cheese to keep energy soaring right through the last class of the day.

Arrange homework assignments starting with the most difficult subject first and winding down to a favorite subject. Having an art or science project to look forward to makes it a lot easier to plow through those tough algebra problems.
